1. Your introduction to involvement

No formal qualifications are needed to become a representative.

Generally, the sort of people we look for:

- have an interest in the NHS and health-related issues
- are able to work in a team and with working groups
- are able to look at things with an open mind
- are able to listen to other people’s points of view or experiences

Your role will be to:

- use your experience to give a patient, user, carer or public view
- be willing to suggest and influence changes to services or plans
- take an active role in groups or projects with our support

Examples of involvement that representatives have influenced include: the design of new healthcare buildings; the content of patient information; the development of programmes of work such as self management for long term conditions; healthcare associated infection monitoring; improvements to services and influencing NHS policies and strategies.

2. What you can expect from us

As someone who has agreed to work as a representative with NHS Grampian, you can expect:

- to be treated as an equal partner with your views taken seriously
- to be able to step down at any time, knowing that it will not affect any future care or treatment
- to be given support or training and any information that you need, free of jargon (or jargon explained) and in a format that is suitable for you
- that your involvement will not impact on your care or treatment if you remain a patient of the NHS
- to have personal information about you kept confidential
- to be given a clear remit of your responsibilities, which will include the length of time you are expected to be involved
- to be able to opt out of anything you don’t feel comfortable with or find stressful
- to be introduced to other participants in the project, and have their jobs and roles in the project explained to you
- to be consulted about decisions which affect you
• to be sent papers of meetings in your preferred format, at least one week before the meeting
• to be provided with a named contact person who will give you the support and guidance you need
• to be informed about what has happened as a result of your involvement
• to be able to claim your travel and other agreed expenses

2.1. As a representative you will be expected to:

• follow NHS Grampian’s policies and procedures (e.g. no smoking policy, equal opportunities, health and safety). We will ensure you have access to appropriate documents.
• follow rules of confidentiality and not discuss personal or sensitive information outside the group or project. We will ask you to sign a confidentiality agreement, a copy of which can be found in Appendix A on page 15.
• take part in an initial induction session if arranged by the project or group and any other briefings or training sessions.
• read papers for meetings before you attend and if unable to attend, give your apologies in good time if possible.
• follow the NHS Grampian expenses policy for patient/public representatives. A copy should have been supplied to you. If not, please call the Public Involvement Team on 01224 558098 for a copy.
• remember that any contact with the media (newspapers, television, radio) or through social networking will be handled by the Corporate Communications Team at NHS Grampian. You should contact the team (01224 558098) if you are approached by someone from the media or via social networking to talk about the group or project you are involved with.
• provide references or complete Scottish Disclosure/PVG Scheme Membership documents if required by us. We will guide you through this process.
• declare any interests, employment or otherwise, which may conflict with your involvement with NHS Grampian. This will not necessarily stop you working with us.
• raise any concerns or difficulties with your contact person or, if you prefer, the Public Involvement Team.
• inform your contact person if you no longer wish to be a representative.

Please be aware that your name may appear on minutes of meetings which can then go on to the NHS Grampian website. Please inform your contact person should this be of any concern for you.
3. A brief guide to standards of conduct

NHS Grampian staff are required to follow standards of business conduct. We ask that representatives who are involved with NHS Grampian should observe these standards too.

From time to time, representatives may be involved in activities or projects which will bring them into contact with commercially sensitive information, for example when examining bids or business proposals for health service developments.

Please do:

- be impartial and honest in any official business you carry out on behalf of NHS Grampian
- ensure the interests of people who use services are paramount
- disclose any of your other interests – employment, business or voluntary, which might conflict with your involvement
- ask for advice from your contact person or from the Public Involvement Team (01224 558098) if you are unsure or are worried about anything

Please do not:

- accept any gifts or inducements or inappropriate hospitality
- abuse your involvement with NHS Grampian for personal gain or to benefit family or friends or to benefit another organisation (voluntary or private), over and above the expenses you are entitled to claim
- unfairly advantage one competitor over another or show favouritism
- misuse or make available “commercial in confidence” information

4. A brief guide to Disclosure and the Protecting Vulnerable Groups (PVG) Scheme

Most representatives will not be required to have a Disclosure Check. As a general guide we will only carry out a Disclosure Check if you are going to be in direct and unsupervised contact with patients, carers and the public. This will normally require a Standard Disclosure. A request for PVG Scheme Membership will only be made in particular circumstances. We will advise you if your role is subject to Disclosure or membership of the PVG Scheme. If it is, we will help you with your application process and pay any fees. We will also pay for a Scheme Record Update if you are already a member of the PVG Scheme.

NHS Grampian can request your membership of the PVG Scheme or a Scheme Record Update at any time, but we will always do this in consultation with you.
5. The legal responsibility to involve people

One of the commitments of the Scottish Government has been to give patients and the public a greater say in the work of the NHS in Scotland. In 2004, the National Health Service Reform (Scotland) Act placed a statutory duty on the NHS to involve people in planning and developing health services.

As part of this legislation, the Scottish Health Council was set up to ensure the views of patients and the public are properly taken into account by NHS Boards. The Scottish Health Council is independent from NHS Boards with a local office in each Board area:

Scottish Health Council
3rd floor, East Wing
Ashgrove House
Foresterhill
Aberdeen
AB25 2ZA

Telephone: 01224 559444
www.scottishhealthcouncil.org

6. A brief guide to the National Health Service in Grampian

NHS Grampian provides health services for approximately 569,580 people living in Grampian.

6.1. Health and Social Care Partnerships

Health and Social Care Partnerships (HSCPs) were launched across Scotland in April 2016. They bring NHS and local authority services together with the aim of benefiting patients, families and carers. NHS Grampian is working in partnership with Aberdeen City, Aberdeenshire and Moray Councils to develop and implement arrangements to support health and social care integration. This represents a significant change in the way that health and social care is planned and delivered in Scotland. Over 40% of the NHS budget has been transferred to the Integration Joint Boards (see page 11) of the new Health and Social Care Partnerships.

6.2. Acute hospital services

Acute or “secondary” care services are based in Aberdeen around the Foresterhill site and at Dr Gray’s Hospital in Elgin. Both hospitals provide a range of in-patient and out-patient services.
6.3. Other partner organisations

NHS Grampian is very closely linked with both the University of Aberdeen and the Robert Gordon University, especially in the fields of research, workforce planning and training. Representatives from each of the local authorities (and the University) are members of Grampian NHS Board.

You can find out more about NHS Grampian by visiting our website: www.nhsgrampian.org

7. The language of the NHS

As a representative, you will come across terms and acronyms only used in the NHS. At first these will probably sound unfamiliar. We will always do our best to explain jargon and acronyms. Please ask for an explanation if you do not understand some of the discussion at meetings. The following glossary of terms may help.

8. What if being a representative is not quite what you expected?

Involving people in the work of NHS Grampian usually goes smoothly. However, just occasionally, it may not work out for you, or it is not what you expected. This may only become apparent after induction and you have started to attend meetings, or meet with other people. In the vast majority of cases, such problems can be sorted out satisfactorily and quickly through an informal discussion with your nominated contact person. However, if this proves difficult for you, someone from the Public Involvement Team within Corporate Communications on 01224 558098 will be able to advise and support you.

Should there be a problem with a representative which cannot be resolved on an informal basis, it may be necessary for us to put things on a more formal footing. Should this ever happen, a representative will always be kept informed about what to expect. It is rare for us to do this, but we may put in place a process which could lead to a representative being asked to leave.
