Haelan® Ointment is a moderately potent topical corticosteroid, fludroxycortide 0.0125%.

Indications for use:
In wound care where overgranulation tissue is present recognised as overgrown red friable tissue and its presence inhibits epithelialisation. Although out with product guidelines, Haelan® Tape and Ointment can be used to treat overgranulation, particularly around stoma sites.
The tape is applied to clean, dry, hair-free skin, it should be cut to the size of the lesion with a quarter inch margin of normal skin, and the corners rounded. The lining paper is removed and the tape applied from the middle applying gentle pressure and working to the edges. The tape can remain in place for 12-24 hours.
Haelan® ointment is recommended for overgranulating wounds which are located in a difficult area whereby the tape would not have direct contact with the wound bed, i.e. cavity wounds. The ointment should be applied as a thin film to the affected area.
